TINY TOWN, USA — Tinyowntimes.com launched a preemptive advertising campaign in advance of its official September splash sensing that after just one week of activity it was all carpe diem and no looking back. Some test ads have already been circulated to the "media" and other social networking tools.

The Research and Development team are eager to hear from readers who feel slighted, insulted, left out, embarrassed, disappointed, bored, irritable or otherwise not content with the nature of these ads.

Whatever your response, you can reach the TTT.com crew by clicking on "Contact Us" under ABOUT TTT.COM at the top of the menu on the left hand side of your screen.

See you all on the friendly fields of strife.
